

Plymouth Red bellied Turtle Head Start Program in Massachusetts

This presentation will focus on conservation efforts to increase the numbers of Pseudemys rubiventris bangsi, a locally threatened species. This on-going project involves a coordinated effort between public and private institutions as well as state wildlife officials. The talk will also present some of the challenges encountered in this 20+ year project.